

Here is what NWCS Homeschool families have to say in 2018.....

"Greg and I have been discussing this homeschool program and are SO IMPRESSED. We are truly amazed at what we are getting for our money, what the kids are experiencing in just one day of school per week, the great relationships they have already formed, the organization and communication, and the thoroughness of the teachers. We went into this year knowing we would have to evaluate if we thought this homeschool route was worth the money and it 100% is. So thank you, the work and effort of the whole team is noticed!!"

"Our family moved here from out of state last year and were directed to Northwest Christian Homeschool by our realtor (of all people). We are so SO glad we listened to his recommendation! Deanna and Ruth are amazing directors who truly care about home education and they love the families they serve. We keep saying over and over how thankful we are to have found this amazing school!"

"The homeschool program has been a wonderful experience for my children. It has taught my kids how to present orally in front of others, which is an important skill to have as they will have to present in front of people their entire lives. The program has prepared them for college in that the program offers structure, classes, grades and self-discipline to do their homework without as much teacher or parental guidance. Most importantly, it has taught my kids how to build purposeful relationships with their friends and teachers. This has been a great balance between homeschooling at home and sending our kids to class! Our kids now have the freedom to homeschool in higher level classes. We are amazed at how much learning and loving is packed into just one day a week."

"The NWC Homeschooling Program has very positively impacted the academic, spiritual and social growth of our four children. The quality of education at the secondary level is excellent... college-preparatory, creative and engaging. The enrichment program for elementary is truly a delight, with instructive and interesting class experiences and home assignments that strengthen our overall home education."

Here is what NWCS Homeschool families have to say in 2018.....

“Our son Wyatt started at NWC Homeschool Program when he was in 7th grade. He is still in the program and is currently in 9th grade. Our first year was a tough one for many reasons. I never realized how challenging it would be to give up control over my son's schooling and trust someone else to do the job and do it well. I joke around, but the first year felt like I gained 15 pounds and I cried daily. Initially the work felt like a lot for my son and I needed to sit with him and help him to adjust, hence the weight gain and tears. I really did not know for sure that this was the program for us and left it open for other possibilities during that first year. God used my husband to tell me that we were staying with the program and I am so glad he did. We have a son that has a desire to do well in all that he does with school. He is self-motivated and self-sufficient as well. When I look at his school work it feels like it is someone else's work because of the improvement. Even though Wyatt has had a new Literature teacher every year he has grown in a different area every time. I cannot say enough how impressed we are with Mrs. Wagley and Mrs. Stewart. Their guidance and direction are both tough and caring. They support their teachers 100% and at the same time are concerned for the families in the program. That can, at times, be a delicate balancing act and they do it so well. We believe in the program so much that our youngest will be starting 7th grade this following year. I have no doubt that again I will gain some weight and shed a few tears. The transformation is worth it! God has blessed our family with NWC Homeschool Program. Thankful to our Lord and Savior for caring for us in this way.”
